linking hoosiers to government

Remember when interacting with government meant filling out forms in triplicate on a typewriter . . . holding the phone to get the answers you needed (only to find you didn't get the right person after all) . . . waiting for weeks to get a background check on a new hire . . . rushing to downtown Indianapolis by 4:30 to get that last-minute filing in before the deadline . . . or searching through volumes of books to find a particular law?

All that has changed thanks to accessIndiana, the state's official

Web portal. With dozens of online services and over 220,000 easily navigable pages of information, the accessIndiana Web portal has made the “old fashioned way” of interacting with government a distant memory. Find out how your business can benefit from using accessIndiana by visiting us today at www.IN.gov!

Service Levels

Indiana citizens and businesses can use hundreds of accessIndiana online services for free; however, some services are assessed a modest convenience fee, referred to as an Enhanced Access Fee.

accessIndiana Subscriptions

Users of state online services can purchase an accessIndiana subscription for $50 a year. An accessIndiana subscription provides access to all subscriber services, which includes a select set of services not available to the general public for security purposes. The subscription offers the convenience of monthly billing, for which you may choose a monthly invoice or automatic credit card billing. With each subscription, you will receive individual passwords for up to 10 people in your organization, including one managerial account with access to all online itemized billing summaries for the account; toll-free technical support from customer service representatives and technicians; and monthly detailed online billing summaries and BMV search histories.

A single, $75 annual subscription offers all of the above and access to premium services offered by CivicNet, the Indianapolis/Marion County eCommerce portal.

Instant Access

Through Instant Access, there are no annual fees. Users simply pay for the services they use. Most online services currently only accept online credit card payments, although some services permit electronic check (eCheck) payments. Credit card customers are assessed the normal Enhanced Access Fee plus an additional Instant Access Fee, both of which are used to help fund the development, hosting, maintenance, and marketing of the state's Web portal.

Payment is accepted by American Express, Discover, MasterCard, Visa credit card or debit card.
